

TIME TO BREAK

THE GLASS CEILING

BREAKING THE GLASS

FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 2021 | 11:00 AM-5:30 PM (IST)

To celebrate International Women’s Day, we are bringing to you- ‘BREAKING THE GLASS’, a Three-Act, Theatre-based virtual workshop for WOMEN LEADERS to help them unlock their true potential. Here each participant will uncover the labels that are chaining them down and feel empowered to break free of them. We will push them outside of their comfort zone and help them overcome their internal obstacles.

THE FIRST ACT

A cognitive journey of discovery in the form of a self-assessment. Here participants get an opportunity to explore their life journey to date and reflect on how they want that story to continue.

THE SECOND ACT

A 6-hour workshop where the women leaders will:

- Challenge themselves by reflecting on their self-limiting beliefs
- Pause, celebrate themselves and chart an action plan for their future goals
- Realise the power of their authentic selves and reinforce behaviors that are working beautifully for them
- Experience a space to discover scenarios that might be holding them back from reaching their true potential

THE THIRD ACT

In the FINAL ACT of the workshop, we will aid participants in setting goals driven by their renewed confidence and experiences during the session. We will provide a 5-week goal tracking system which will also be supported by their stakeholders. 20 days post the workshop, we will also conduct a survey to see the needle movement.
